

Thermi and Sinclair terminate their collaboration on Silhouette Instalift™

- Thermi, an Almirall company, and Sinclair, have mutually agreed to terminate their collaboration for the marketing of Silhouette Instalift™ in the US.
- The decision has been reached by both companies with the aim to focus on their current core business.

Thermi, an Almirall S.A. (ALM) company and Sinclair Pharma plc (SPH.L), today announced that they have mutually agreed to terminate their collaboration for the marketing of Silhouette Instalift™.

The injectable Silhouette Instalift™ and ThermiRF® technologies provide complementary options for physicians as both offer minimally invasive procedures with consistent outcomes. Both companies have been working through a joint marketing agreement for two years. Thermi and Sinclair have decided, given the growth opportunities in this market, to focus on their own core business in order to fully leverage its potential.

Under the terms of the agreement entered into in May 2016, Thermi was granted with exclusive four-year distribution rights for the US market until mid-2020. The agreement involved a material investment in the launch and marketing of Silhouette Instalift™ by Sinclair. Almirall will receive an undisclosed consideration from Sinclair.

Thermi will continue offering the ThermiRF® platform, which enables aesthetic physicians to perform from non to micro-invasive treatment solutions, like ThermiTight®, only available in the US as a single treatment for aging neck and other body areas. Thermi is a world leader in minimally invasive thermistor-regulated energy solutions for aesthetics, dermatology and women's health. Thermi's flagship application is ThermiVa®, a non-invasive procedure for the treatment of soft tissue for vulvovaginal laxity.
